

Member Registration

Membership of ACS is open to all current and past students and scholars (including visiting scholars) of University of Cambridge. Students or scholars from other universities and those whose research interests relates closely to China or who want to learn more about China may also apply. If you want to become a member of ACS and get informed of our various events and networking opportunities, please fill in our online membership application form: Online Membership Application Form \(QX3÷h\)